The sum of $5 000 was then voted by the Union to secure passages for immigrants.

THE PEACE OF EUROPE.

A GREAT WAR IMMINENT—THE INCREASE OF HUGE ARMIES BECOMING INTOLERABLE—OPINIONS OF THE LONDON "TIMES."

A London letter to the World, under date of May 29th, says:

The leading article in the Times yesterday is well worthy of the attention which it will everywhere receive. It was a plain warning that Europe is on the eve of a mighty war. Affairs have come to such a pass that the burden of maintaining the armies which all the nations have prepared for the coming war is too great long to be endured. But still these armies are constantly increased. "The process of turning citizens into soldiers" says the Times, "goes on all over Europe without any apparent limit. The German army is more than half as large again as it was fifteen years ago but still is not large enough to satisfy Bismarck and Moltke. France, Austria, Italy, Russia, Belgium and Sweden are each following Germany's example and are increasing their armies. Each is afraid of all the others and "Europe is returning to the traditions of an earlier age, when every free man was a soldier, and the pursuits of industry were wholly subordinated to the claims of military service." Each nation says it is arming only for defense—but some of them have already armies of defense more numerous than any offensive army ever brought against them. For, says the Times:

"Germany has a total army of 1,261 000 men, and this is very nearly twice as large as the offensive army of European and Asiatic Russia, and falls very little short of the combined offensive forces of France, Austria and Italy. The French army again is much larger than the army with which Germany could make the attack. Nor is Italy less well defended against all possible assailants. Within the last fifteen years she has almost doubled her standing army and has increased the available offensive part of it in an even larger proportion. She has now 605 200 soldiers with whom she can defend herself and 320 000 with whom she can attack her neighbors. If we measure her defensive forces against the offensive forces of any other nation whatever we shall find that they do not fall far short of any and that they are considerably in excess of most. The very pretence of reason thus altogether disappears and the jealousies and suspicions of the nations of Europe with regard to each others future movements are shown clearly to be as baseless as they are ruinous."

England, for every 1 000 of her population, maintains only three soldiers for offensive purposes; Italy and Belgium maintain twelve; France and Austria fifteen and Germany twenty-one. It is in vain for Germany to pretend that she wishes only to defend herself—she means mischief, and the gun which will be the signal of the next great war will be fired by her.

At the festival Friday night in Seattle as we are informed, the voting to determine the most popular man was arrested because it was likely to determine the wrong man. That is a [illegible] common occurrence in voting.

THE LION.—Dr Livingstone is said to have expressed the utmost contempt for lions. "You talk about the majesty of the lion," said he chatting one day at a party in London with Sir Edmund Landseer, "but you do not know the beast. There is no more majesty about him in the forest than there is about that poodle. It is all poetry. Lions are arrant cowards—cowardly sneaking beasts. You can hardly tell a lion from a donkey when you come upon him in the forest, and if you come upon a lion suddenly his first impulse is to tuck his tail between his legs and bolt. He will spring upon you if he come upon you unawares and can have time to crouch but if a man has the courage to look the lion in the face you need not even cock your rifle."

A PIOUS PIANIST.—Sufferers whose unhappy lot in life it has been to live next door to a musical family will appreciate a story that is told of Von Bulow the eminent German pianist. An aspiring genius had been sent to him to receive some lessons in music. On the youth's return home he was asked his opinion of the master. "Well," said he, "he is a great teacher and gave me fine lessons and better than all he is the most pious man I ever saw." "How do you make that out?" "Why all the time I was playing he would repeat 'Good Lord! what sin have I committed to deserve this punishment.'"

The Philadelphia bar has been passing resolutions on the death of one of its members. Such resolutions are never passed because they make interesting reading. They originate in an insane notion entertained by nearly all lawyers, that when a member of the legal fraternity applies to St Peter for admission to that place where lawyers are not generally supposed to abide a copy of the resolutions passed at a 'meeting of the bar' is equivalent to a free ticket.—Courier Journal.

SOUTH CAROLINA

THE CRIMES OF MOSES—THE ROBBER GOVERNOR—THE TRUE STORY OF HIS INDICTMENT FOR GRAND LARCENY—HIS CRIMINAL ABUSE OF THE PARDONING POWER—CHARACTER OF THE MEN WHO ESCAPE PUNISHMENT.

[Special Cor. N. Y. Times.]

CHARLESTON June 6.—Every interested state [illegible] in the country notwithstanding [illegible] it is now admitted that F. J. Moses Jr will be a candidate on the Republican ticket for re-election as Governor of [illegible] the State of South Carolina. It is stated by all classes of politicians that should he run there can be but little doubt of his success. Such being the case it may be well to explain to the Republican party of the North what manner of man F J Moses Jr is. That he boasts of having hauled down the American flag from the walls of Fort Sumter and that he is openly charged with all sorts of crimes is well known to newspaper readers throughout the country. Of his recent indictment for malfeasance in office and grand larceny much has been written but as yet the whole truth in relation to the matter has never been laid before the public. From Major Charles W. Buttz the State Solicitor who prosecuted the Governor and who is most intimately acquainted with the whole case the following plain and unvarnished statement is derived. At the election of Moses for Governor and during the canvass he became desirous of obtaining political control of a newspaper published in Columbia and known as the Union Herald. With this object in view he entered into communication with Mr T C Andrews one of the proprietors of the journal named and soon after made a written agreement with him for the purchase of a one half interest in and the entire political control of the paper. This agreement which is now in the possession of Buttz and which has been seen by your correspondent stipulates in distinct terms that Moses is to pay $12 000 for the interest sold to him and that $6 000 of this sum is to be taken from the State civil contingent fund which had not yet been appropriated. The rest was to be paid in other State securities. In order to secure the payment of one half of the money Moses appointed a negro boy named Humbert to be County Treasurer of Orangeburg county. At the time of this appointment the boy was not yet twenty one years of age. Soon after Moses drew a warrant on the contingent fund for $6 000 and sent it by Andrews to Humbert with instructions to collect taxes to that amount and hand them over to Andrews. At the same time Moses assured the boy Treasurer that he would make the matter all right. Relying on these promises Humbert did as he was directed. Some weeks after the Legislature being in session appropriated $20 000 as a contingent fund for the Governor. Immediately upon the bill being passed Moses with his signature still wet presented it to State Treasurer Cardozo and drew the whole amount. A week or so afterward Humbert went to Columbia to pay over the taxes he had collected and settle his accounts with the State. As a voucher for the $6 000 he had given to Moses he presented that gentleman's warrant on the contingent fund. The Treasurer refused to accept this saying that the Governor had already drawn every penny of the fund. Humbert greatly alarmed then called on Moses, who told him to say nothing about the matter and that he would protect him and see that he came out all right. At the same time he advised him to go back to his office and purchase school claims against the State—to be had at 40 cents on the dollar—sufficient to cover the amount he was short and that he would get Cardozo to accept them for their face value. Humbert again did as he was directed but on presenting the claims to Cardozo that gentleman not only refused to accept them at their face value but caused the arrest of the unfortunate negro lad on a charge of being a defaulter. The boy was bailed out by a friend and Moses requested him to come and see him. During the interview which followed the Governor tried to induce his dupe to give up the written evidence which he possessed in relation to him. At the same time he advised the boy to go to Court to plead guilty before his examination and assured him that after his conviction he would at once be pardoned and set at liberty. Humbert having no faith in Moses promises declined to do as he desired. Interested parties laid all these facts before State Solicitor Buttz who decided to frame an indictment against Humbert for breach of trust fraud and attempt at grand larceny and against Moses for aiding advising and abetting him in the crime. The law makes the punishment for all the offenses the same. As soon as the indictments were issued it is understood that Moses went to Mr D W Chamberlin one of the ablest Northern men in the State and promised him that if he would use his great influence to protect him in his need he would resign in his favor at the next election and do all in his power to have him (Chamberlin) elected Governor. The truth of this statement is not vouched for it is certain however that on the evening of the indictment of Moses by the grand jury not only Chamberlin but his law partner Mr Melton the present Attorney General together with R B Elliott Member of Congress from this State arrived in Orangeburg and on the next day appeared in court and stated to the Judge that Gov. Moses would stand his trial the same as any other citizen and that he did not wish his official position to shield him from the consequences of any of his private actions. This statement appeared very well on the surface but as is alleged Moses never had any intention of living up to it. On the day fixed for the trial Attorney General Melton appeared in court and prepared another indictment against Humbert charging him with a failure to return money collected to the State Treasurer. Had the boy been convicted of this he would have been sent to the Penitentiary and thus made powerless as a witness against the Governor. Buttz understanding this and having determined to allow Humbert to turn State's evidence objected and the case was put off until the next term. The second trial resulted in the merest farce as already reported in the Times and the case is still pending.

THE GOVERNOR'S MISUSE OF THE PARDONING POWER.

Among the many charges brought against Moses one of the most serious is that his misuse of the pardoning power amounts almost to criminality. The exercise of this power in favor of convicts to the extent Moses has carried it has had such an injurious effect on the evil disposed portion of the community that they commit the most serious offenses with no fear of punishment. At the same time it has more than doubled the expense of the courts giving the tax payers just cause for complaint.

In the Charleston Circuit alone since the 1st of January 1873 the convictions and pardons have compared as follows:

Crimes	Convictions	Pardons
Murder
Manslaughter	8
Highway robbery	4	1
Burglary	11	11
Forgery	1	9
Assault with intent to kill	15	1[illegible]
Riots	1
Arson	1	1
Perjury	1	1
Rape	1	1
Assault and battery	6
Grand larceny	—	18
Total	227	8[illegible]

Of the above number Moses pardoned 73 by telegraph the day after conviction and the balance before they had been convicted thirty days. In most instances the pardons were granted upon application of interested politicians. Of the number allowed to escape the punishment they deserved fifteen were tried and convicted of two different offenses committed since they were first pardoned and were pardoned a second time and twenty two have been convicted of one offense since pardoned and pardoned a second time.

It has always been a custom with the Governors of South Carolina before pardoning a convict to apply for information regarding his case to the attorney who prosecuted him or the judge before whom he was tried. Major Buttz states that Moses has never consulted him in relation to his pardons and has only spoken with the judges in one or two cases. Among the criminals who have recently experienced the clemency of the Governor was one James Gallagher convicted of kidnapping and sentenced upon the best of evidence to five years imprisonment. He was pardoned on application of Judge Tom Mackey who stated that he was an active politician. Another case is that of Samuel [illegible] an officer in the negro militia. He was convicted on five counts of forgery and sentenced to five years imprisonment. Moses pardoned him as he told his friend because he was a useful political nigger. An Israelite named Rosa Zacharias convicted of breach of the peace and oft repeated [illegible] was immediately pardoned upon application of a Hebrew friend of the Governor.

CHARACTER OF THE MEN WHO ESCAPE PUNISHMENT.

The most remarkable misuse of the pardoning power by Moses however and perhaps the strongest instance of executive clemency on record is to be found in the case of one Benjamin Hernandez an old resident of Charleston who, after having been [illegible], was convicted and sentenced to jail for two years for obtaining money by threat and under false pretences. At the time of his conviction there were no less than seven other indictments hanging over him. One of them was for assault with intent to kill. The lawyer who defended him took an appeal from the ruling of the court that convicted him to the Supreme Court of the State. Pending this appeal Hernandez committed various other offenses. Soon after the inauguration of Moses as Governor he visited Charleston and while staying at the house of Gen William Gurney, the present County Treasurer sent for Hernandez and gave him to understand that the protection of the Executive would always be with him no matter what he might do and at the same time with his own hand prepared and delivered to him the following commission written on a small sheet of note paper:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

Mr Benjamin Hernandez is hereby appointed one of the State Constables with the pay of $[illegible] a month to hold office during Executive pleasure.

F J MOSES Jr
Governor of South Carolina

The law authorizing the appointment of State Constables had been abolished before this time as was well known to both the Governor and Hernandez. This being the case it was understood that the commission was given for political purposes only and that no pay was to attach to the office. Notwithstanding this however Hernandez applied to the Governor for money and for several months received the salary named in the commission. Finally having no further use for the fellow, Moses instructed his servant not to admit him to his office. Hernandez on going to the State House at Columbia was therefore informed that the Governor could not see him. Becoming enraged he knocked the usher down with great violence and was proceeding to commit other outrages when the Police rushed in and arrested him. He had not been in the station house five minutes however when Moses caused his release, and sent him an order on the contingent fund for six hundred dollars. Having no confidence in the order or the fund Hernandez sent the Governor word that he must have six hundred dollars in money or he would horsewhip him before he left Columbia. Upon this Moses gave him a letter to Gen Wm Gurney of Charleston requesting that gentleman to pay the desperado the money he asked. As is further stated by Major Buttz Moses had already received large sums of money from Gurney and also his indorsement to a note for $10 000 which was afterward allowed to go to protest. This being the case Gurney refused to pay the $600 demanded. Hernandez swore that he would be revenged and a few evenings after on meeting Gurney at a political Convention said he would not allow him to deliver any speech to the delegates until he had paid him $600. Upon this a few hot words ensued and Hernandez drew a pistol and was about to fire on his opponent when he was seized disarmed and taken to jail. For this offense he was convicted sentenced to three years imprisonment in the Penitentiary and sent to serve out his term on this charge and also on the previous conviction for two years. The convict has not long been in the State Prison however when his friend Gov Moses telegraphed to the Solicitor Buttz to come up to the capital. Upon his arrival the Governor very coolly asked him to consent to the pardon of Hernandez. Buttz not only refused to do so but sent to the Sheriff of Richland county and keeper of the Penitentiary seven bench warrants against Hernandez in the several indictments pending against him in the courts of Charleston. He also filed a written protest against the pardon signed by Gen Gurney the County Treasurer Gen Worthington the Collector of the Port and Mr Bowen the Sheriff of Charleston. The Governor still urged the Solicitor to consent to the pardon saying that he wished to grant it to oblige George I McIntire one of the State Senators, and publisher of a paper which every week charged Moses with rape seduction and theft. The Solicitor still refused when Moses assured him that the party would be much benefited by the pardon of Hernandez, and that if he were allowed to go free McIntire would stop writing articles about him and would support him in the fall campaign. Major Buttz here intimated to the Governor that as McIntire had charged him in open print with so many terrible crimes it would not look well in the eyes of the public to do anything at his request. After some thought Moses assented to this and gave his word of honor that he would not issue the pardon. The Solicitor satisfied with this promise returned to Charleston and two days afterward was astonished and mortified to receive the announcement that "Governor F J Moses Jr of the State of South Carolina had pardoned Benjamin Hernandez and ordered his release from the Penitentiary." This not only proved to be true but a few weeks subsequently McIntire's paper was suspended and the publisher was appointed to the fat office of Treasurer of Colleton county and received a commission as Major General in the State Militia. In this way the proper respect for the law is lost and it is with the utmost difficulty that criminals can be made to fear punishment. This is particularly the case with the negro. Solicitor Buttz assures your correspondent that he has frequently been told by such persons that it was useless to convict them as they would be pardoned by Massa Moses sure. A premium is thus put upon crime and the robber Governor by the influence which he can exert with a few unprincipled leaders hopes to control the black vote of the State and compel his re-election to the highest position in the gift of the people of South Carolina.

AN ANECDOTE OF LINCOLN.—Mr Lincoln who was a natural diplomatist fortunately understood Mr Sumner. The President knew as well as the Senator that the war sprung from slavery. He had already said that the house of the Union divided against itself could not stand. He knew as well as Sumner that slavery must be smitten. But he knew also that [illegible] could not [illegible] until public opinion lifted his arm [illegible] the most precious service [illegible] the President to the country and to the world. This was not the appeal to him [illegible] was the appeal to public opinion that was demanded. It was not Sumner's direct but his reflected light that was so useful. And when the President at last raised his arm—for he pulled no unripe fruit and he did nothing until he thought the time had fully come—he knew that the country was ready, and that no man more than Sumner had made it so. When the Assistant Secretary of State carried the engrossed copy of the emancipation proclamation to Mr Lincoln to sign he had been shaking hands all the morning so that his writing was unsteady. He looked at it for a moment with his sadly humorous smile and then said: "When people see that shaky signature they will say 'see how uncertain he was.' But I was never surer of anything in my life."—G W Curtis' Eulogy on Sumner.

We hear of several others but have been unable so far to get the amounts which they are forwarding to market. When the money for the wool crop of Umatilla county comes in as it will now soon financial matters here must become much less stringent than at present."

A new paper to be called the Eastern Oregon Journal will be started at Baker City about the 10th of July. It will be edited and published by Mr W S Nelson. In his prospectus Mr Nelson says: "Politically we are Republican and shall defend the broad just and comprehensive principles of that great national party to the bitter end cost what it may just so long as those principles shall obtain." When those principles do not obtain what his course will be he does not say. We wish the Journal great success.

The Statesman of Tuesday says Secretary Chadwick informed us yesterday that although the election returns had been received from all the counties in the State it was ascertained that some of them were incomplete. For instance the Clerk of Benton County neglected to forward the vote for Superintendent of Public Instruction as did the Clerk of Tillamook ignore the vote for State Printer. The former mistake was promptly rectified by telegraph but it will take several days to hear from Tillamook. The vote will be canvassed so far as received and we hope to present some figures in our next issue.

BAKER COUNTY

WEATHER—CROPS—MINES—BUSINESS IN GENERAL.

BAKER CITY, June 18, 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Since election times are very quiet here. The weather up to last Friday has been rather chilly and rainy but fine growing weather, and crops look well. The past few days have been warm with thunder showers and wind storms. Trade is not first-rate and the water supply in the various mining districts does not hold up to our expectations. However I believe El Dorado Camp is looking up and will do better than last season. There are rumors of the starting up of the Virtue Gold Mining Company's mill and mine. In that event the James Cordon Company's mill will resume work as they will have an opportunity of getting their rock crushed. Quite a number of our citizens have departed for Silver City, work being scarce here. The carpenters and blacksmiths are the only busy mechanics. I fear that unless the P D & S L Railroad bill passes Congress or that some capitalists come here Baker City next year will be a deserted village. The agricultural interests are not sufficient to maintain a town of this size.

There are eight saloons here where liquor is retailed and it is a wonder to me how they all exist. We have a good lager beer brewery here also. They all seem to thrive.

Strawberries and cherries made their appearance in our market last week. Grain is selling at 1½ cents per pound; butter, 25 cents; eggs 25 cents. Groceries and dry goods figure at rates the same as two years ago when actually these articles of necessity should come down in prices to suit the times.

R.

A correspondent writing from Warrens Idaho says: "On Rabbit creek a party of new comers last fall made $10 per diem ground sluicing. This spring they started two pipes and according to the nature of things will do even better this year."

THE TERRITORIES

The wheat stored in the Wallula warehouses has all been brought away.

Four hundred and thirty five head of cattle were sold recently in Deer Lodge for $20 per head.

The Walla Walla farmers have got up a corner in hay and will not sell at less than $14 50 per ton.

There are not nights enough in Seattle now. A few more are needed to make room for all parties, festivals and doings.

Five hundred and ninety bushels of coal was hauled into Walla Walla last week at one time by one team but in two wagons.

Ten thousand pounds of Government cartridges have been sent to the citizens of Meagher county, who fear an Indian outbreak.

A force of some sixty men is constantly at work on the Seattle and Walla Walla railroad. It is becoming one of the industries of that region.

The orator of the day on the coming Independence Day at Steilacoom will be Gov Ferry instead of Judge Jacobs as heretofore announced.

The election in Montana takes place in August. The Independents propose to nominate a ticket, and the voters generally propose to vote for whom they please.

The property in Clifton District or Deep Creek in Utah known as the Gilberson property has just been sold to a St Louis Company for the snug little sum of $90 000 cash.

Friday night at the Presbyterian festival in Seattle a young lady received the premium as the handsome woman to the disgust, of course, of several others who are good looking.

In the presentation of the premium Friday night, to the homeliest man in Seattle the speaker remarked it was not on account of physical deformity but moral. A pretty severe joke.

Idaho has a malformation in the shape of a lamb, whose head and neck are covered with what might be called feathers, while it has but one eye which solitary optic is set in the center of its head.

Five thousand logs belonging to the railroad company have arrived at the mouth of the Yakima. They were brought from the upper Yakima and the drivers made the trip in twenty eight days.

The Walla Walla Statesman thinks it is cheeky in the Sound papers to claim that the Delegate to Congress from Washington Territory this year should be a "clam eater" and says a man from the grasshopper country would fill the bill just as well.

Daniel Hewes sent out along the line of transportation of the Seattle Coal Company some twenty wheelbarrows, picks, shovels etc and the men are to follow to use them in straightening and improving the tram road, making it suitable for a locomotive and train of cars.

Says the World: "An out and out Democrat not remote from Idaho City, on hearing the remark that La Dow had made a very poor run,' replied 'No wonder he has made a poor run, everybody has this spring, the season has been so infernally dry.' He thought La Dow had been mining."

In the Sundry Appropriation bill as passed the House, we find the following items for Washington Territory: Survey of public lands $40 000; for Keeper's dwelling at Cape Flattery Station, $18,000; for cisterns and repairs at Smith's Light Station, $15,000; for general repairs at Admiral Head Light Station, $3,500.

Says the Bozeman Courier, of June 5th: "The migration of the grasshopper westward has already set in. Sunday the air was full of them, seeking pastures fresh and new. They seemed to have come across the range from the Yellowstone Valley, which accounts for their early maturity, that Valley being celebrated for being ahead of all others in the matter of early vegetation, on which these early emigrants have been nurtured, and attained a flying capacity in advance of those that settled in the Gallatin. Let 'em fly."

A term of court was held at Colville week before last. There was one chancery case, two divorce cases, four civil cases in which judgments were taken by default and two in which jury trials were had. There was also seven criminal cases, for living in open adultery—cases in which white men are living with squaws without being married to them. In two of these trials were had, in the one a verdict of not guilty was brought in and in the other the jury could not agree and were discharged and the defendant held for trial at the next term. The other five were continued and the court intimated that if juries would not convict men for that offense in Stevens county he would have the trials come off in Walla Walla. There was also a case of seduction under promise of marriage.

A gentleman just down from Whitman county, W T, says that the boats touch at Penawawa every trip, land and take on a considerable amount of freight. H M Walker of Eugene City Oregon expects to erect a flouring mill on the Upper Palouse soon. The Indians on Hangman's creek had a grand time dedicating their new church commencing on the 4th instant and lasting about a week. The settlement on South Pine creek is growing very fast, and there are now two good schools maintained there. Four hundred head of fine cattle were brought across Snake river last week intended for the Portland market. Colfax is steadily improving a number of new buildings having been erected during this spring. Davenport is doing a big trade in milling and merchandising. In some localities the crickets have done some damage but in most places they have done none.

A man named S W Condon, alias "Wild Goose Bill," in company with a squaw with whom he had been living with for several years left Walla Walla on the 9th inst. with a stock of goods for the mines on the Upper Columbia. Reaching the Palouse the pack train was divided the squaw crossing with the first lot of animals while Bill remained and crossed some time later with the remainder of the train. After crossing he had proceeded but a short distance when he was accosted by three Indians who demanded possession of the squaw. Bill declined to accede to this demand whereupon one of the Indians leveled his gun and fired the charge taking effect producing an ugly wound in the right side of Bill's breast. Drawing his revolver and firing in rapid succession Condon brought down two of his assailants killing one instantly and seriously wounding the other. The third Indian after this demonstration found it convenient to leave. Condon's wounds while of a serious character, are not necessarily fatal.

A MAYOR'S RESIGNATION.—John W Ward Mayor of the little town of Floreyville in Mississippi has tendered his resignation to Gov Ames by the following letter: "I herewith beg leave respectfully to tender my resignation as Mayor of Floreyville to which office I was appointed by your high headed predecessor which with the infernal greediness for office so characteristic of the American people, I was green enough to accept. In thus drawing off the judicial ermine I am governed alone by the [illegible] of being inordinately rich if I continue to hold this lucrative position. Perhaps some other man and brother may be inveigled into the acceptance of this position but your humble servant prefers to retire to the gushing serenity of private life."

THE DEPARTURE FROM WASHINGTON.—A Washington dispatch dated June 14th says: The party of worn and weary statesmen who went to Cape May to assist Mr Grant to recuperate and all that sort of thing is more numerous than was at first announced. The list comprises Secretaries Robeson, Bristow and Belknap, Assistant Secretary Cowan, Col Moseby, Governor Shepherd, Congressman Hubbell of Michigan and various other lesser lights. A vast amount of inquiry has been expended to find out whether Jones went but without success. It is quite certain, however that Babcock went.

WEDNESDAY MORNING JUNE 24 1874

GIVE THE PEOPLE FAIR ELECTIONS

At every general election in Oregon, or rather after every such election there are complaints of fraudulent voting Unless we mistake there has been no exception to this for over ten years The State has been most of the time so nearly equally divided between the two parties that the temptations to illegal practices have been very great A candidate for a high office, whose election is a question of only a few hundred votes at most or a candidate for the United States Senate who considers his election pretty certain if only this or that county where the parties about equally divided can be carried by his friends, thus giving the Legislature to his party either of these is exposed to the strongest possible temptation to use whatever means are within his reach to secure the desired result Thus it is not improbable that there is some foundation for most of these charges And yet it is doubtless the case that many of them are greatly exaggerated and some are entirely groundless It is indisputable, however, that frauds have been in some instances practiced in Oregon upon a scale of magnitude which in proportion to the aggregate vote of the State is without a parallel, even in those elections that a few years ago made New York and Philadelphia politics notorious and infamous Nobody who has any self respect and who has observed the progress of events in this connection with even that most superficial eye, would dispute this statement and nobody who should have the hardihood to dispute it would find many intelligent persons ignorant enough to believe him

Such a state of affairs demands attention at the hands of the Legislature A good and efficient registration law would prove a sufficient remedy It would be necessary in devising such a law to make suitable provision for exceptional cases where districts are so remote from the county seats, and so sparsely populated that the registration systems in vogue in other States would be a hardship on the voters. but districts thus situated are not very numerous, and could be easily provided for In the thickly settled parts of the State, such as the Wallamet, Umpqua and Rogue River valleys, there would be no difficulty whatever The experience of other States could be appropriated at once Let the Legislature that is to convene in September go carefully about providing a remedy for the evil of fraudulent voting, and it will be found the lions that are in the way are no lions at all, and that the country will support any well considered legislation on the subject.

SIXTY THOUSAND DOLLARS

Sixty thousand dollars is a good round sum Just how many men could be put into the Oregon Legislature by putting such a sum "where it would do the most good," it would be difficult to determine except through actual experiment Nor is there any algebraic formula by which could be demonstrated just how many members could be "influenced" with that amount of current money of the realm, after they had been elected.

This singular train of reflections has been forced upon our mind by the announcement of the appropriation of sixty thousand dollars for the survey of the public lands in Oregon It may not be apparent at first what the survey of the public lands has to do with the putting of men into the Legislature or influencing them after they get there But there is an intimate connection between the two Nothing was better known than that a very large number of members of the last Legislature acted contrary to the known wishes of their constituents and in violation of the pledges upon which they were elected And nothing was more scandalously plain than that many of these members were soon after the owners of large and very profitable surveying contracts Those who choose to trace out the connection of these facts with each other will find abundant evidence to enable them to do so

At that time Mr W H Odell was Surveyor General He is of the more respectable and high-toned class of ring politicians But during his term of office he let his right hand know once too often what his left hand was doing, and the indiscretion cost him his head Ben Simpson is his successor Ben is a man to be trusted If there is anything to be done Ben can do it, and he will Ben has the disbursement of the Sixty Thousand this time. There ought to be that amount of money legitimately expended every year for some time, in surveying the public lands It is one of the wants of the people of the State But it will not be done or we miss our guess This sixty thousand dollars will procure about twenty thousand dollars worth of surveying, and the contractors will make forty thousand clear profit This is their margin Of course we are croaking now, but wait a little and see if what we say is not true

COLLECTOR SIMMONS ON CIVIL SERVICE REFORM

The name Simmons is not wholly unfamiliar to readers of the OREGONIAN The individual will be recognized as Collector of the port of Boston over whose nomination Beacon Street and the Essex Statesman struggled like Kilkenny cats Everybody knows, too how that uneven battle resulted in the complete discomfiture of Hamilton Hall and the committee of two hundred eminent merchants of Boston Simmons was vindicated and immediately on his accession to office he commenced such a series of civil service reforms as quite surpass the extraordinary feats of the Jenckes Commission He had been accused of corrupting elections, of packing primaries unlawfully controlling conventions and managing matters and things generally in the interest of the Essex Representative Now, in the hour of his supreme triumph, he was to convict his enemies and vindicate the good sense of his friends And this is the way he did it

Soon after he became Collector he requested one of his subordinates to send in the names of three clerks to be discharged The names were furnished and the victims of civil service reform were duly decapitated Thereupon in almost every paper in the Union this dispatch appeared

BOSTON June 8—The officials of the Boston Custom House are greatly excited on account of the action of Collector Simmons in reducing the number of employes and cutting down expenses Three clerks were discharged on yesterday

This remarkable occurrence was duly magnified and Simmons name was on the lip of every true lover of Mr Butler And it was a good thing and it always would have been a good thing had it not quite recently transpired that the three unfortunates were anti Butler men and that within a fortnight from the time of their discharge this energetic disciplinarian sent in to the same officer previously applied to the names of eight men with directions to find places for them And the eight fortunates were ward politicians after Mr Butler's own heart Comment is unnecessary

A SHORT HISTORY OF A SHORT QUARREL

The Custom House Ring had been having a nice little quarrel among themselves for some days which it appears has been spoiled by the Senate of the United States It should not be understood from this that that august and venerable body has with malice aforethought actually taken a hand in the family affairs of the Portland ring The quarrel and the settlement of it came about after this manner Senator Hipple for some cause or other, concluded that, as between Mr T G Young and Mr D J Malarkey the difference to him was so considerable that he must remove the former from the position of U S Marshal for this State in order to make room for the more useful gentleman who, already holding a sinecure in the Custom House, demanded a better place than he had So the President was induced to name Mr Young's successor, and, of course, to name Mr Malarkey Then came the row Tom Young had friends who were interested in having him remain in the office With some there were cogent reasons for such a wish, outside of the matter of mere personal friendship These kicked against fate and there was a general unpleasantness in the camp of the faithful Nothing like it has occurred before for some time. The little misunderstandings that have from time to time disturbed the equanimity of the ring during the last year, were not a circumstance compared with the breeze that was set in motion by the removal of Young to get his place for Malarkey Some of the friends of the decapitated individual even went to the length of asking a few of the anti ring people to join them in a telegram to Washington, the object of which telegram was to prevent the confirmation of the new appointee The response to this request was that the persons so requested were not taking any stock in the domestic broils of the ring The Wise Man had left for their meditation a very apt and forcible statement of the result of meddling in the quarrels of other people and they did not propose to take any Custom House dogs by the ears They would be excused—and they were

Whether the belligerent dispatch was sent by the belligerent ring people or not, we do not pretend to possess "any knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief," but it is certain that there was a council called, and that the ring managers were in a 'perturbed state of mind' during the whole of last Monday At that council, (which, by the way, was not held in Tom Young's office where the most of such gatherings have been held) it was agreed that the will of Mr Hipple must be enforced, no matter who of the subordinates suffered, This was the substance of what went over the wires officially from that council, and the result was quickly seen The suspended nomination was at once called up by the Senator and acted upon Exit Tom—enter Dan

And now some people are silly enough to suppose this will divorce Young and his especial friends from the ring It will do no such thing Those who expect such a result do not know him as well as we do There is no more danger of his leaving them than there is of Scott's doing so Tom is a good fellow enough, but he can be gulled The ring managers know how to play upon his credulity, and will use him right along just as they have used him heretofore. The quarrel is ended with the confirmation of Malarkey 'Let us have peace'

Ramey, colored Representative from South Carolina tells a correspondent of the Pittsburgh Leader that the passage of the Civil Rights Bill would secure his race from insult and evil treatment. He asks Do you think it right that when I go forth from this Capital an honored member of Congress that I should be subjected to insults of the lowest fellow upon the street if he should happen to feel so inclined He relates one of his grievances as follows

I was never openly insulted but once in Washington and that was at Falte's opposite the postoffice I went in there and asked for a glass of beer The waiter handed it out and said the charge was fifty cents for a glass of beer I said Is this because I am a colored man Yes said he I went away at this very much mortified

Ramey shouldn't drink beer

The Astorians say all the scraping and dredging now going on at the Hog's Back will avail nothing, and that the only effect of the work will be to damage the ship channel on the Washington side a little lower down by setting adrift large amounts of sand which will settle in that channel The engineers engaged in the work on the other hand claim that they are greatly improving the channel and their work will prove entirely successful Time will tell who is right

The Rocky Mountain News (Colorado) seems to be in trouble Here is the statement of its grievance Wanted at this office a printer who can set every man's advertisement in the largest type, and impose forms so as to give to each advertisement the most conspicuous place in the paper If he possess the ability to change the editor's rules so they will please all his readers pay will be no object The editor of that lively journal is evidently getting discouraged.

The New York Legislature passed and Gov Dix has signed a bill awarding the prizes amounting to $30 000, for the best invention for steam navigation on canals $30 000 goes to Wm Baxter on condition that he puts seven boats like the Baxter on the canal and $15 000 to Capt D P Dobbins on the condition that he place on the canal three boats like the steamer William Newman The prize of $100 000 was not awarded.

THE LEGISLATURE

The annexed table is we believe substantially correct The Senator from Washington county is given to the Independents although it is probable that there will be a contest between P G Burford (Ind) and T R Cornelius (Rep)

CITY.

A QUIET PICNIC.—Several ladies ventured out early yesterday afternoon and crossed the river with the intention of visiting the Asylum. Just as they were in sight of that institution a smart shower came up. It would never do to have our 'spring styles' damaged thought one and all, so shelter was the most desirable place to seek about that time. 'We will climb the park fence,' said one, 'and go into one of the booths.' This was readily agreed upon by the party and over they went, clearing the fence in a twinkling. All haste was made to the nearest house within the enclosure. The trip to the Asylum was abandoned and means resorted to to spend the afternoon in East Portland Park. About this time Ludwig and [illegible] happened along for the purpose of removing flags and other ideas to some dry place. What was their surprise to find the place in[illegible]. Mine host of the brewery was left to conjecture how the fair ones gained admission to the park as the ladies could not enter the gates, they being locked. He took the matter calmly, and concluded he must 'do the handsome,' so he went to work to make the ladies at home. Ice cream and berries were furnished. A swing followed and dancing formed part of the entertainment. The ladies retired at 5:30 P M, fully as well if not better satisfied than if they had gone to the Asylum. And it got into the papers,' although our reporter was not present.

THE 'INS' AND 'OUTS.'—To-day one week—July 1st—the various persons elected to fill the offices of the county, will enter upon the duties of the same, according to the law of the State. Members of the House and Senate, however, like the District Judges and Attorneys and the State officers, will not take the oath of office nor enter upon the duties of the same until the meeting of the Legislature this fall. Next Wednesday, Mr Jeffery becomes the Sheriff of this county in place of Mr Cuywood. Mr Story enters upon the duties of County Clerk vice Mr Harris, who retires, and E. Hamilton, who has occupied the position of County Judge for the past four years, doffs the robes of office, which descend on the shoulders of J H Woodward. Messrs McCormick and Silver will vacate their seats as commissioners, and resign in favor of H Han[illegible] and Capt. Chas Holman. Rev T L Eliot and C W Burrage, who were re elected Superintendent of Schools and Surveyor will have the pleasure of supplanting themselves. Wm Masters who has held the keys of the Treasury safe for two years, will deliver them over to his successor, F Harbaugh, while Col T J Dryer will resign the Coronership to Mr J A Wetmore. Truly, it will be a day long cherished in the memories of the 'ins' and 'outs.'

PERFORMANCE AT SALEM.—The Portland Dramatic Association have completed all arrangements, and propose to give two performances this week at Salem. Friday and Saturday evenings of the present week have been designated. 'The Poor of New York,' will be the play rendered on those two nights. There will be no alterations in the cast as presented here some weeks ago, with the exception of substituting a few new names in the more subordinate characters of the drama. Mr. E C White will personate Gideon Bloodgood, Dr C M Brown that of Tom Badger, Mr. Briggs (Alida Bloodgood) Mrs Gilbert, Mary Fairweather, Mr Gilbert, Paul Fairweather, Fred Gere, Mr Puffy, Mr Barrow (late of the Phelps Troupe) Mrs Puffy. The members of the Association have succeeded admirably in pleasing critical audiences in Portland, in the rendition of this drama and won golden opinions from the public and press. There is no reason to predict otherwise than that the company will add new laurels to their well established histrionic reputation before the Capitalians.

N. B.—Since the above was in type we are informed that the contemplated visit to Salem has been deferred for the present, in consequence of the illness of one of the principal actresses who is to take part in the performance.

AMERICANIZED.—Under the caption of 'Americanized by Act of God,' the San Francisco Commercial Herald of the 16th inst says:

Early last March the new French brig Sudi was wrecked at the mouth of the Columbia river and was sold for the benefit of the underwriters. The wreck was purchased by an American citizen, who got it off at considerable expense, and the Sudi was brought to this city and thoroughly repaired. In the meantime her owner engaged the services of C A McNulty, Adjuster of Customs, who applied to the Secretary of the Treasury, under the law in such cases made and provided, for admitting her to American registry. The Sudi was laid on the berth for New Zealand, received a full cargo, shipped her crew and was ready to sail, when, on Tuesday last, the Collector of this port received notice from the Treasury Department to grant the Sudi American registry but to change her name. The orders were complied with, and the vessel now claims the appropriate and pretty name of Sea Waif, and flies the American flag.

NEW COUNCIL.—The new Council for the city will hold its first regular meeting on Monday evening next at the Chamber. The Councilmen whose terms of office have expired are First Ward, E M Burton, Second Ward, J. M Caywood, Third Ward, W Lair Hill. The following gentlemen have been chosen to fill these vacancies: First Ward R [illegible] Thompson, Second Ward John Catlin, Third Ward, Elijah Corbett. These officers elect have taken the oath of office required and will take their seats to-morrow evening. But little business will be transacted at the first meeting besides reading the usual message of the Mayor, and the appointment of the standing committees. Among the first duties incumbent on the new Council will be the election of a City Surveyor, Superintendent of Streets, Attorney and Auditor and Clerk. No election will probably be held until the return of Mr. Story, who is now absent from the State.

'JOURNAL OF ARMY LIFE.'—This is the title of a work just issued by A. L. Bancroft & Co, and written by our fellow townsman Dr. R. Glisan. This work purports to be extracts from the diary of a medical officer of the Army. The prospectus declares that the book does not consist of reminiscences, which are often unreliable, but mainly of extracts from the diary of a medical officer of the Army, giving unvarnished anecdotes and incidents of border life among the Indians and of the Oregon and Washington Territorial Indian wars between the years 1850 and 1859. Also recent articles on the Indians and their relations to the Government—garrison society—and a comparative view of the climates of the Southwest and Northwest coast.

A PROLIFIC BRANCH.—Mr H W Prettyman, proprietor of the Railroad Nursery, laid on our table yesterday, a very prolific branch of cherries. One hundred and ten cherries were grown on three inches of a slender branch scarcely as large as one's little finger. We have not been informed as to the variety of the cherry, but should think that it is pretty good for most any kind of fruit. If any horticulturist can produce a branch which will beat the one now in our office we would be very much pleased to have him come to the front.

CELEBRATION AT VANCOUVER.—We learn on good authority that the citizens of Vancouver are making the necessary preparations to observe our nation's anniversary in a fitting and appropriate manner. The necessary arrangements were made at a meeting on Saturday by a committee of citizens, Grangers and Temperance Alliance members. Rev Mr Miller was selected as Chaplain; Mr Charles Brown was appointed Reader of the Declaration of Independence and the Rev A S Nicholson was chosen for Orator.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U S Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, June 23 1874:

COURT ADJOURNED.—But very little more business remains to be transacted at the present term of the Circuit Court. Yesterday the court adjourned until Thursday morning at which time sentence will be passed on Robert [illegible], and court will meet again on Monday morning when all the jurors on the regular list are requested to be in attendance.

COMMENCEMENT.

GRADUATING EXERCISES OF THE SENIOR CLASS OF THE PORTLAND ACADEMY AND FEMALE SEMINARY LAST EVENING AT THE TAYLOR STREET M. E. CHURCH.

A hundred gas jets shed a flood of brilliant light down upon one of the largest, most fashionable and refined audiences which we have ever seen collected within four walls last evening in the audience room of the Taylor street M E Church. It is needless to state that the chief attraction of the evening was the graduating exercises to be held at that place by the Senior Class of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary. Long before the hour designated for the commencement of the graduating exercises—8 o'clock—the large commodious auditorium was crowded to repletion by anxious parents who came to hear how their sons and daughters would acquit themselves, friends of the graduates and hundreds who were attracted merely as interested spectators to witness the exercises.

Very shortly after the clock chimed the hour of 8 o'clock, the graduating class preceded by the Principal Prof [illegible] L Royal and other teachers connected with the institution came marching up the aisle. First came Mr Royal followed by the young men graduates: Wm W L Royal, Simon Selling, John F Dillon, Quinn T Doane; next Mr [illegible] Royal assistant teacher in the Academy followed by the lady teachers Mrs. [illegible], Mrs Church and Mrs Dalton. Closely following these came the young lady graduates: Misses Emma C. Robb, Mary E. Hall, Jennie Caples, Edith H. Dillon and Mary L Cook, all neatly and appropriately attired in white with handsome wreathes about their heads and bearing in their hands fragrant bouquets. Advancing to the platform, teachers and pupils took their seats.

Silence having settled over the sea of upturned faces Mr Royal announced that the exercises would commence with an Opening Song entitled 'Waiting till the Reaper Comes,' which was sweetly sung by the class accompanied by the piano, at which presided Mrs. Dalton. Rev G W Izer, pastor of the Church offered a short prayer, after which the audience was favored with a piano and violin duet; Misses Edith Dillon and Mary E Cook presided at the piano, and Prof Sedlak performed on the violin. A very animated medley was discoursed in a skillful and tasty manner, which gave entire satisfaction to all present. Essays and orations being next on the programme, Miss Emma C. Robb was introduced. Her essay was on the subject of 'Hobbies.' It was neatly written and delivered in good style. 'Rewarding Well Doing,' an oration was delivered by Mr Wm. W L. Royal. The effort was in every way creditable to the young man, and did not fail to impress the audience with its practical thoughts, well arranged sentences and superior manner of its delivery. Miss Mary E Hall next read an essay on the subject of 'Earth's Battle Fields.' Her essay was very short and can be characterized as a finished bit of English composition. Miss Mary Lambertson performed in very good style and with taste a piano solo, after which Miss Jennie Caples read an essay on the subject of 'Our Possibilities.' 'Hero Worship,' an oration by Simon Selling, followed next on the programme. Miss Edith H. Dillon's essay was 'Our Reunion of '90,' which was one of the best efforts of the evening. 'Duration of Time,' was the subject of John F. Dillon's oration which was decidedly the best effort of the evening. The language of the oration could scarcely have been improved and it was delivered with splendid elocutionary effect. Mr Quinn T Doane delivered an excellent oration on the subject of 'Man, the Masterpiece of God's Handiwork.' 'Trifles' constituted the subject of Miss Mary L Cook's essay, which was very feelingly and effectively read. Miss Lambertson sang in a charming manner a vocal solo, with piano accompaniment, after which, followed the conferring of degrees by the President of the Board of Trustees, Rev Wm Roberts. Benediction followed and the audience was dismissed. Throughout the exercises were very entertaining and listened to with interest by the large audience assembled.

AMUSEMENTS.

In another column will be found the programme of the Concert to be given at Masonic Hall for the benefit of the Hebrew Benevolent Society, Good Samaritan Hospital, and the Catholic Orphan Asylum. The programme is an excellent one, and among the volunteers we observe several members of Maguire's Minstrel Troupe, the City Brass Band and a number of our local musical talent. The affair is under the management of Mr Smith, Manager of Gray's Music Store, who by the way will leave on the steamer for San Francisco. Prof Gans will direct the entertainment, and the affair promises to be largely attended. Recollect Thursday afternoon and the place—Masonic Hall.

Almost every seat was occupied at the Oro Fino Theatre last evening, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. The company were in the best of spirits and as usual did their best to please. The first part was unchanged, though the vocal department sustained their reputation in all they did, while the end men sang and told jokes with great zest. A word dropped by them was the cause of an outburst of laughter from the auditors and in School which closed the scene they were continually at work conjuring up something of a laughable nature. In the latter portion of the programme Bobby Newcomb, Welch and Rice, Little Mac, and last though not least by any means, Knight, were the principal actors whose performances gave great satisfaction—the latter being called out no less than five times. The inimitable Little Mac was exceedingly droll in his specialty of 'Rats' and roar after roar could be heard following some of his quaint sayings and comical actions. 'Love in All Corners' closed the evening's performance, and a more highly delighted outpouring from Oro Fino Theater we have seldom seen. New novelties are announced for this evening. By all means go while you have a chance.

The following dispatch was received by Capt A P Ankeny which will best explain itself:

WASHINGTON, June 22 1874

To A P Ankeny: Owing to the great amount of business on the calendar it will be impossible to get up the bill this session in aid of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake railroad, in either Senate or House for consideration or action, the bill having been reported favorably from the committee of both Houses; it will not fall by adjournment but stand on the calendar for action next session when we have no doubt of its passage. Had it not been for the press of business taking precedence on the calendar, it would without serious doubt have passed this session.

THE FOURTH AT HARRISBURG.

The citizens of Harrisburg have made provision for a grand celebration of the 98th anniversary of our Independence and they invite their neighbors and friends from abroad to come and enjoy the occasion with them. There will be a procession, an Oration by Hon George R Helm and a basket dinner. Hon Enoch Hoult will be President and O P Tompkins Esq Marshal. Music will be furnished by the Harrisburg Brass Band and the Junction Brass Band. The occasion should certainly be an enjoyable one. Mr Helm's well known ability as a public speaker insures the attractiveness of that part of the programme. We understand that our worthy friend Hi Smith has interested himself in the matter. So it will be a success.

PICNICS.

Blessed with good weather the teachers, pupils and friends of the St David's Sunday School [illegible] will go on an excursion and basket picnic to Salem on Saturday, the [illegible] inst. The cars will leave the Front bridge at 8 o'clock A M, returning, will leave Salem at [illegible] o'clock P M.

WAGON BURNED.—The [illegible] is responsible for the following: Last Friday Mr Clem White, of Oswego, who is engaged in hauling coal for the Iron Works as he was hauling from the pit to the works met with a rather singular accident. For a part of the way it became necessary to double teams owing to the roughness of the roads. He had brought out one wagon and gone back to get another, when, upon returning to where he had left the first wagon, he found it enveloped in flames. With the greatest exertion he managed to save the hind wheels of the wagon. The balance was a total loss. He is at a loss to account for the origin of the fire.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Slippery streets again.

Considerable dampness yesterday.

Fine growing weather—for ducks.

The strawberry season has reached its zenith.

Cherries ripe and plenty of them in the markets.

It never rains in this climate—no, of course—it only pours.

Ball to the bat—Little Mac at the pitcher's post—2 P M.

The river has fallen several feet during the past few days.

The first floors of the wharves are getting above the water.

It is thought that the river has attained its maximum height.

The steamer [illegible] is taking on cargo down the river at the fisheries.

The river was quite tempestuous yesterday—a sort of tempest in a tea pot.

Picnics and excursions are numerously announced for the Fourth of July.

Boys are laying in a liberal supply of fire crackers and flags for the Fourth.

Mrs Phelps and troupe played Monday and last evening at Salem to good houses.

Large quantities of grain, wool and flour are stored on the O S S Co.'s dock.

If you haven't been to the Minstrels you had better go. They are simply immense.

On Monday evening the Crusaders made a raid on several saloons in East Portland.

Old Jupiter Pluvius reclines in the downy lap of June is what a poetical chap at our elbow suggests, notwithstanding we insist upon simply saying that it rains.

A runaway would find it a difficult matter to pass the Central School on Seventh street now that the steam power machine is slashing away at the enormous pile of wood in that locality.

Little Mac requests us to state that the game announced for yesterday afternoon has been postponed until this afternoon at 2 P M—Academy grounds—when he hopes there will be no Oregon mist to prevent his club from winning a ball of the Acadians—if possible.

The Street Railway Company have added some ten fine horses to their already large stock, and their stables now show a collection of horses that is unequaled in the State. A new street car of the latest pattern has also been added to the company's transportation facilities.

MR. HOLLADAY'S SUDDEN ILLNESS.

The public will be much concerned to hear of the alarming illness of the President of the Railroads who so very recently came amongst us, heralded in the glad pages of the Bulletin as buoyant with youth and vigor, 'full of spirits as the month of May and gorgeous as the sun in midsummer.' This sudden relapse from his previous high condition of health took place, we are informed, on the afternoon of the 15th, upon the occasion of attempting to serve upon him a citation to answer some question in a case before a referee here in which he is plaintiff. It is notorious that the atmosphere of Courts of Justice is rather insalubrious, indeed, for some people here and elsewhere getting to be very unhealthy and it may be that the Railroad President has this morbidly exceptional organization. However the mere anticipation of the rude questioning appears to have collapsed him. He had to be confined to his house immediately insensible and inaccessible, except to the most intimate friends and was finally spirited away gently during the mild moonlight hours in a special steamboat to the balmy beach of Clatsop, where the gentle sufferer now woos the health giving airs of the Pacific, endeavoring, and we trust not in vain, to restore the bloom to his pallid cheek, and firmness to his shattered nerves.

The distressing circumstances of Mr Holladay's illness, consequent inability to stand the shock of examination in court, and recent deportation from amongst us were pathetically presented in an affidavit yesterday by his next in (railroad) rank, and the affidavit being supported by the touching appeal and argument of his counsel moved the impressionable nature of the referee who ordered that the absent invalid may rest in peace. So mote it be.

PERSONAL.

Hon L O Sterns of Baker City is on a visit to Portland. He is in excellent health and spirits.

For Fine and Artistic Photographs go to Buchtel & Stolte, 91 and 93 First Street, the only First Class Gallery in the State.

Everything is quiet once more, the election excitement being over and people can now avail themselves of the opportunity to buy their summer suits of clothing, the times being such as to warrant a general reduction in prices. Beck & Waldman are awake to the necessities of the hour and propose to offer their customers and others a splendid chance to come out in a new rig. Their stock is complete in every respect. Boys Clothing a specialty. Bear that in mind.

The triangular fight for Governor and other State officers is over and the returns are coming in. Some think the result will be in favor of the Democratic ticket and vice versa, but it is certain that FISHEL & ROBERTS are leading in the race for supremacy in their particular line of business. This popular Clothing House is now filled in every department with the latest fashions and they are offering great bargains, though that is generally understood by all who know the firm. Leave your measure and we assure you that satisfaction will be given in every instance.

ANECDOTE OF SUMNER.—We take this extract from George William Curtis' eulogy on Sumner:

Mr Sumner was one evening surprised by a visit in Washington from a large number of the most conspicuous citizens of Boston, all of whom had been among his strongest and most positive political opponents. He welcomed them gravely, seeing that their purpose was very serious, and after a few moments the most distinguished member of the party made an impassioned appeal to the Senator. 'You know us all,' he said, 'as fellow citizens of yours who have always and most strongly regretted and opposed your political course. But at this awful moment, when the country hangs upon the edge of civil war—and what civil war means you know—we believe that there is one man only who can avert the threatening calamity, one man whom the North really trusts, and by whose counsels it will be guided. We believe that you are that man. The North will listen to you and to no other, and we are here in the name of humanity and civilization to implore you to save your country.' The speaker was greatly affected and after a moment Mr Sumner said, 'Sir, I am surprised that you attribute to me such influence. I will however assume it. Be it so. What then is it that you would have me to do?' 'We implore you, Mr Sumner, as you love your country and your God, to vote for the Crittenden Compromise.' 'Sir,' said Charles Sumner, rising to his lofty height, and never more Charles Sumner than in that moment, 'if what you say is indeed true, and if at this moment the North trusts me as you think beyond all others, it is because the North knows that under no circumstances whatever would I compromise.'

NATIONAL INDEPENDENT CONVENTION.

The following resolution was adopted by unanimous vote in the Illinois Independent Convention, June 10th:

Resolved, That our State Central Committee be hereby instructed to join with like committees in other States, in issuing a call for a national delegate convention, to meet in Chicago, Indianapolis or at some other central city in the West in January, 1875, for the purpose of taking into consideration means and measures necessary to the protection of citizens from the oppression of aggregated capital, and for the further purpose of consolidating the various political elements in the nation opposed to the present corrupt practices of the old party leaders, in a national organization representing the people and pledged to reform.

The Courier says: The Congregational Association for Oregon and adjacent Territories, which convened in Olympia last Thursday, June 18 1874, closed its labors late last Saturday night. Nearly all of the members have already taken their departure. The next Session will be held in Seattle, commencing the third Monday in June 1875.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.

Dull heavy headache, obstruction of nasal passages, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, acrid, thick and tenacious, mucous, purulent, muco-purulent, bloody, putrid, offensive, etc. In others a dryness, dry, watery, weak or inflamed eyes, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear the throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, tickling cough, etc. Only a few of the above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time. No disease is more common or less understood by physicians. The proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will pay $500 reward for an incurable case.

READ WHAT IT WILL DO.

Dr R V PIERCE:

Sir—Having first applied to a number of home physicians and failed to get relief, I resolved to try your Remedy. Four bottles have completely cured me of one of the worst cases of Catarrh of which I have any knowledge, having suffered for months with an acute pain in the head and breathed only with the greatest difficulty. I [illegible] you as well as suffering humanity that this recognition be made of what I deem an invaluable medicine.

Stars and Meteors.

At certain seasons meteors dart across the firmament between the earth and the fixed stars. But they quickly vanish while the fixed stars remain. In the medical firmament the great vegetable invigorant Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has long been a fixed star of the first magnitude. Little meteors in the shape of imitations, bearing various names, now and then attempt a glimmering competition with it, but they soon disappear from the field of vision, leaving the glory of the true remedy unimpaired. The number of these will-o'-the-wisps that have come to grief within the last twenty years is beyond computation, and those in existence are in the last agonies of extinguishment. The standard tonic and alterative that cures and prevents so many distressing diseases, and which no debilitated invalid ever took without receiving a wonderful accession of strength and vitality, only derives increased popularity from the attempts of charlatans to rival it, their failure in the [illegible].

VALUABLE FARM.

AT PRIVATE SALE ONE FARM OF 400 ACRES of choice Land situated one half mile above Walla Walla city. It is all under fence, with good rail fence. About 200 acres are under cultivation, with a good dwelling house and out houses. There are about 1000 bearing fruit trees of the best varieties on the place. Also grapes and shrubbery in abundance. The place is well watered, lying on both sides of Mill Creek, and the whole can be irrigated if necessary. There is a plenty of timber on the place, which is an item where wood sells at $8 per cord.
I will sell the above farm altogether or divide it up to suit.

WEDNESDAY MORNING JUNE 24 1874.

A SONG OF THREE WORDS

Orare Laborare et Cantare

Three blissful words I name to thee
Three words of potent charm
From cutting care thy heart to free
Thy life to shield from harm
Whoso these blissful words may know
A bold blithe-fronted face shall show
And shod with peace shall safely go
Through war and wild alarm

First ere thy forward foot thou move
And wield thy arm of migh
Lift up thine heart to Him above
That all thy way be right
To the prime source of life and power
Let thy soul rise even as a flower
That skyward climbs in sunny hour
And seeks the genial light

Then gird thy loins to manly toil
And in the toil have joy
Greet hardship with a willing smile
And love the stern employ
Thy glory this the harsh to tame
And by wise stroke and techinc flame
In God I at Labor's fruitful name
Old Chaos to destroy

Then mid thy workshop's dusty din
Where Titan steam hath sway
Croon to thyself a song within
Or pour the lusty lay
Even as a bird that cheerly sings
In narrow cage nor frets its wings
But with full breasted joyance flings
Its soul into the day

For lofty things let others strive
With roll of vaunting drum
Keep thou thy heart a honeyed hive
Like bee with busy hum
Chase not the bliss with wishful eyes
That ever lures and ever flies
But in the present joy be wise
And let the future come!

—Good Words

"MILE FENICE" OR "MRS FEENIX"

[From a New York Paper]

Mlle Fenice the handsome woman for whom the Grand Duke Constantine of Russia robbed his mother of her diamonds is credited to the United States and yet she is an Englishwoman born at Brighton, thirty years ago She first made her appearance in Paris, eight years ago, under the name of Clara Bayers, and attracted considerable attention, both by her beauty and graceful manner In the same year she was introduced at the Court of the Tuileries, and, a few days afterward married a gentleman of Philadelphia with whom she lived only two days She went to Monaca, where she soon became the belle and, for a year and a half, remained the most interesting lady in that place At that time a man named Count Von Arnim came there, and, believing that she had been previously divorced from her former husband married her They lived happily together for several years until Von Arnim was transferred to St Petersburg where he found out that the former husband of his handsome wife was still alive, and, in order to escape the disgrace which he was afraid would await him, he fled to America. His wife, however remained in Russia, and, by her beauty, attracted numerous admirers Among them was the young Grand Duke Constantine who finding himself unable to gratify the extravagant propensities of his inamorata, stole his mother's diamonds, and at the pawn-brokershop turned them into money at one-half their value

[From the Philadelphia Bulletin]

The young woman who figures before the world in this disgraceful affair as "Mrs" and "Miss Feenix, is a Philadelphian well known to a very large circle, especially of the opposite sex in this city Her career has been one of continual profligacy for a dozen or more years past, during which time she has been twice married her first husband dying suddenly in West Virginia, and her second a young New Yorker, whose name it appears she still wears, having married her in Paris, and afterwards separated from her "Mrs Feenix" is the daughter of a former most eminent clergyman of this city, now deceased

THE ENMITY BETWEEN SWANS AND GEESE.

Touching this enmity between the swans and the geese, it is curious to see how the long feud varies In the spring the swans are victorious The male plunges through the water at the geese directly they appear, and single-handed, sends them all flying off with screams Moreover it will follow them far ashore, hunting them some two hundred yards up the common, which pasture retains the name it had before inclosure. Some two years ago I had not been home for twelve months Before I left there had been great contests between the swan and the gander out on the grass and on driving in by the gate at the top of the common, on my return after a years' absence, there they were in the same place, pounding and flapping at one another, as if they had not stopped since I saw them last Nor do I suppose that there had been more than a short truce, which generally arrives in the severe part of the winter Then all, friends and foe, come up to the house to be fed. In the autumn the war does not cease, though the tables are turned Then the gander gets a temporary pre-eminence For a time the efforts of the swan to drive off the geese grow fainter He will come plunging up to the fleet of geese which evade him And swim further out Presently they all set up a war scream, and the old gander, with his neck as straight as a ruler, sallies out, challenging the swan to single combat That is accepted The other day—I write in September—I saw such a duel The birds laid hold of each other by the throat, and there was a tremendous splashing and bother The gander drew off after some three or four minutes of this intimate wrestle But if he follows the precedent of former years, he will soon win a victory, as thus He will get on the swan's back, between his wings and peg away at the nape of his neck the swan swimming away furiously all the time until at last Mr Gander gets off, returns to his flock, which set up a monstrous chorus of rejoicing, and congratulates himself on the first victory of the period in which he remains the master —Chambers Journal

WHY HE WAS PUZZLED

The funny man of the House this winter is said to be Mr Nesmith, of Oregon, who tells on himself some very amusing stories He served one term in the Senate several years ago, and a few days after he was sworn in he was passing one of the cloak rooms, and inside were Fessenden Morrill and several others, whose names we can't recall They hailed him, invited him in, and after conversing for a few moments, they asked him very abruptly

"Mr Nesmith you have come from a very wild country, where you say the greater portion of your life has been passed Will you tell us what first struck you on coming to the Senate?"

"Well gentlemen when I took my seat in this august body, said to be composed of the brains of our great country I was overwhelmed with the strangeness of this one idea how I came to be here"

"Oh! Ah Ugh! So! And then, Mr Nesmith what then—what was your next cause for wonder?"

"The next thing gentlemen" answered Mr Nesmith slowly gathering up his great length, "that came to me and puzzled me more than the first thought, was how in the deuce all you other fellows got here"

There was a shout and from that day these solemn old fellows, who had thought to over awe by their pomposity this crude young Senator were his sworn friends and never neglected an opportunity to tell this story —Washington Corr

AN INGENIOUS CHINAMAN —The meek eyed heathen even if he does not know the name of all the different articles in a first-class dry goods store, has a way of making himself understood to the intelligent 'Melican' man Recently a Chinaman entered one of our dry goods stores, walked up to the counter, deposited a grasshopper thereon saying as he gazed upon the clerk with a confiding look He too much hoppee all hoppee—stop him You sabbee? And as the obliging clerk commenced measuring off musquito bar the delighted heathen began humming a song of the Flowery Land happy in thought of how he was going to fool the grasshoppers They had been destroying his garden and wanting to purchase some musquito bar but not knowing the name of the article he brought the destroyer with him—and the clerk understood in a moment the article needed.—Helena (Montana) Independent

A Boston newspaper as if aggravating conundrums enough had not been started already wants to know "Why two-thirds of the hotel clerks are bald?" If this be the fact of which we are not sure, it may be that because the forces of nature have been diverted from the soil to the cultivation of supernatural cheek —N Y Tribune

The President having signed the currency bill the Secretary of the Treasury is reported now to be ready to receive proposals for the establishment of national banks in the Southern and Western States The full provisions of the bill as fixed up by the conference Committee are not yet known but its aims to provide for a redistribution of the greenbacks an indifferent measure affording only temporary relief at best and hitting wide of the mark, if its aim is effectually to administer permanent aid to those sections which are now complaining for want of funds It is fair to presume that Oregon will get a small share in the new deal but how much the telegraph fails to inform us though news as to what amount is allotted to the Pacific coast would be of more interest here than the figures which the agent of the Associated Press has furnished But it has generally been so and the most important news awaits the slower mails while that of less moment is sent on the wires

Perhaps after all it is better that Congress has passed this bill as it will have a tendency to settle the uncertainty which has heretofore prevailed in the currency question though with our exchange the San Francisco Bulletin we believe that Congress ought to stop tinkering with the currency Let it alone it is getting along well enough by itself and needs no assistance least of all such assistance as Morton, Logan Kelley Butler etc would give it Let us have resumption speedy resumption and although there may be some errors committed at first they will be soon corrected and the country will prosper At every session of Congress the over ambitious as well as unscrupulous are sure to meddle with the currency question and lend themselves to the views of men who would not hesitate to hurl this country into bankruptcy if they could forward their own sordid aspirations by so doing Besides there is no certainty whatever in the acts of Congress There is no permanency in its resolutions Whatever one Congress may do, the next or some subsequent one, may undo The investing classes of Europe are kept as much on the tiptoe of feverish expectation and suspense as our own people and they know not what faith to put in the stability of our national legislation

There was recently negotiated in London an Indian loan arising out of the exigencies of the famine in Bengal, and the circumstances connected with that negotiation should furnish an instructive lesson to our national legislators The amount loaned was $15 000 000 at 4 per cent redeemable after 1888 and not until then when it may be paid off at par on condition that one year's notice shall be given by publication in the London Gazette The lowest accepted bid was 101 20 and the highest 102 05—remarkably high prices for 4 per cent stock These facts naturally suggest the question how is it that our Government cannot attract capital to its securities at as low a rate of interest

Miscellaneous.

During the two days past a number of farmers from the valley counties have been in this city and report the prospects in the agricultural regions for everything but the early wheat as excellent That however, has been damaged some by the continued rains and cold weather The injury however as yet is not alarming but should the cold and rain continue a few days more the entire destruction of some fields will be certain Much of the wheat of rankest growth is badly lodged and in a few places indications of rust are clearly seen These are the only drawbacks to an immense yield calculated at 25@33 per cent greater than in 1873

The twenty-one firms of San Francisco who are now being prosecuted for alleged fraud upon the revenue in the matter of raw hides consigned to them by Mexican exporters some years ago have determined to meet the enemy in solid column and instead of each engaging a separate attorney, have combined and placed their cases in the hands of C A McNulty Latimer & Morrow, E B Mastick and J G Eastman & Paul Neumann

Five ships laden with breadstuffs from the Pacific coast, arrived at Queenstown last Sunday Three were from Portland and two from San Francisco The time made by the former was 120 121 and 131 days from the mouth of the Columbia river

R G Sneath Esq, has retired from his position as one of the managers of the Anglo Californian Bank, at San Francisco, and F F Low takes his place

The first new wheat arriving at San Francisco this year sold at $1 65 per cental the first in 1873 at $1 75 the first in 1872 at $1 80 and the first in 1871 at $2 30

The Central Pacific Railroad report for May gives upward of 500 000 pounds of salmon carried over their road Eastward We presume a much larger quantity will be transported during the current month

Shipping Intelligence.

Our telegraphic dispatches announce the arrival at Queenstown of the ships Mary E Ray and Gateshead and the bark Blenheim all from this port The Gateshead crossed the bar February 10th the Blenheim the 11th of the same month and the Ray on the 2d of January These vessels carried cargoes of wheat and flour of an aggregate value of $105 875 on board here

The San Francisco steamer is due here this evening but has not been telegraphed at a late hour

HOW TO MANAGE AN UNMANAGEABLE HORSE —A beautiful and high-spirited horse would never allow a shoe to be put on his feet or any person to handle his feet In an attempt to shoe such a horse recently he resisted all efforts, kicked aside everything but an anvil and came near killing himself against it [illegible] and was brought back to his stable unshod This defect was just on the eve of consigning him to the plow where he might work barefoot when another [illegible] service that was [illegible] turned from Mexico took a cord about the size of a common bed cord, put it in the mouth of the horse like a bit and tied it tightly on the animal's head passing it behind the ears under the [illegible] tight [illegible] enough to keep the cord down and the cord in place This done he patted the horse gently on the side of the head and commanded him to follow and instantly the horse obeyed perfectly subdued and as gentle and obedient as a well trained dog suffering his feet to be lifted with entire impunity acting in all respects like an old stager The gentleman who thus furnished this exceedingly simple means of subduing a very dangerous propensity intimated that it is practiced in Mexico and South America in the management of wild horses.—Commercial Advertiser
